CITY AND DISTRICT

The Foster Killing.
Pursuant to his promise made last month, when the case of Foster was ignored the case of Policeman Adrian W. Green, charged with the killing of Reuben Foster, near Anacostia early last month, District Attorney Birney yesterday laid the case before the present grand jury. Some seven or more witnesses were examined by the grand jury, and while the case was in progress it was decided yesterday, Mr. Birney, it is stated, is of the opinion that an indictment will be returned.

Taylor Murder Case.
Monday next the case of Thomas J. Taylor, indicted for the murder of his wife, Nannie W. Taylor, in September last at their home in Southeast Washington, will be called before Judge Cole in Criminal Court No. 2. The case has been postponed several times, and the defense, it is said, will be that of emotional insanity.

Sent to Albany.
Warden Leonard, accompanied by Assistant District Attorney Jeffords, Clerk Harvey Givens and Guard Crocker, left for the Albany penitentiary last night with the following convicts: James Littleton, house-breaking, 2 years; William Saxty, do., 3 years; George Malley, do., 3 years; Walter Hurdle, 2 years; Thomas Harris, do., 1 year and a day; Charles Wheeler, do., 5 years; Thomas Brennan, larceny from the person, 4 years; John T. Knight, bigamy, 2 years; Edward Wheeler, second offense petit larceny, 3 years; John Winn, do., 3 years; James Washington, assault with a dangerous weapon, 1 year; John Welsh, forgery, 5 years; John Dorsey, do., 5 years; Edwin Shorter, embezzlement, 1 year and a day, and Oliver Maxwell, assault with intent to kill, 4 years.

The Tolman Case.
The Court of Appeals yesterday considered the case of George R. Tolman, a Treasury Department clerk, against Warden Leonard of the District Jail. Several weeks ago Tolman was committed to jail by Judge Hagner for failing to pay his wife alimony. The imprisoned man applied for a writ of habeas corpus, claiming that Judge Hagner did not have authority to send him to jail. Judge McComas dismissed the writ, whereupon Tolman appealed to the Court of Appeals. The case was argued yesterday by Mr. Henry E. Davis on behalf of Tolman, and Mr. O. D. Barrett, representing Mrs. Tolman.

NO REHEARSING.

The Bookmaking Case Will Not Be Again Argued.

An opinion was filed in the Court of Appeals yesterday afternoon denying the motion of Fred T. Miller, indicted for conducting bookmaking at the Benning race track last December, for a rehearing. Upon Miller's indictment, he moved to quash it on the ground that it set out no offense, claiming that bookmaking was not illegal in the District one mile beyond the limits of the cities of Washington and Georgetown. Judge Cole overruled the motion, holding that while the acts of 1883 and 1881 prescribed different penalties, both prohibited bookmaking within every section of the District. The Court of Appeals sustained Judge Cole on the 18th of last month, when Miller asked for a rehearing, on the ground that the court did not fully consider the fact that the two acts provided two different penalties for the same offense. But, in its opinion filed yesterday, the appellate court explains that it finds nothing in the motion to warrant the granting of a rehearing.

LARGE REQUESTS

In the orphan's court in Baltimore yesterday the will of Eversfield Fraser Keel was filed, which bequeaths to Mr. Keel's son, Mr. Eversfield Fraser Keel, Jr., all his real and personal property, including the sword of his grandfather, Dr. Henry Keel. The residue of the estate, in the event of Mr. Keel not surviving his son, is left to the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the diocese of Maryland, the income to be used in aid of the diocesan, domestic and foreign missions. The testator's mother is named as sole executrix, without bond.

As Mrs. Keel died over a year ago and her son on the 20th of last March, the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Maryland is the only legatee under the residuary clause of the will. The estate consists mainly of large tracts of land in the western, northwestern and northern suburbs of Baltimore, and in North Carolina, Tennessee and Rhode Island.

At the time the will was placed on record a caveat was filed by Miss Susan H. B. Keel, sister of Mr. Keel's father, who claims that it is invalid on the ground that the will was made at the time he executed it.

Mr. Keel was unmarried. Soon after the death of his father he lived for a year in a private insane asylum in Philadelphia. Mr. Keel was graduated at the Columbian Law School, but never practiced his profession. He inherited most of his property from his father, the late Thomas M. Keel.

The mother of Mr. Keel left a legacy of $50,000 to the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland.

Hillside Meeting.

Although the attempt to organize a branch of the Equal Rights League at the meeting held in the Hillside A. M. E. Church last night was a failure, the proceedings were quite interesting. The church was well filled, and the best of order prevailed. Rev. F. M. Ovelton, pastor, presided, and made an address on "The Necessity of Colored People Generally, and of the Colored People of Washington, to Lay Aside Something for a Rainy Day."

Mr. Ovelton was followed by Mr. M. M. Lollan, a colored layman of Washington, who offered to furnish the means to erect 100 houses per month in Hillside if the proper amount of encouragement were given during the past thirty years made wonderful progress in some of the professions, they have not made equal strides in mechanical and similar occupations.

The last address of the evening was by Mr. Holland's statements, and explained the services of competent salesmen, all under the personal supervision of Messrs. C. Engel's Sons, 500 Center Market. (9th st. wing).

GENTLEMEN'S EASTER HATS. Gentlemen's and other popular Hatters. Silk Hats, 5c. Soft Hats, 10c. Best 32 and 34 Hats. LEWIS & SON, 1421 New York ave.

Wanted Here.

Leon M. Waters, a young man who belongs here, is under arrest in Baltimore, charged with passing counterfeit money. His case will be heard before United States Commissioner Rogers tomorrow. Waters was arrested on a charge of embezzling $50 from a dairyman named John Green. The prisoner's wife, who resides on Lexington avenue, Baltimore, claims that her husband was taken away from her by Alexandria. This charge will also be investigated.

Claimed to Be a Porter.

Detective Lacy had a uniformed prisoner in custody at police headquarters this morning, and the charge against him is false pretenses. The prisoner is a colored man named E. C. Hamilton, who is also known as William Johnson. He was dressed in the uniform of a Pullman car porter, and it is charged that he had represented himself as chief porter for the company. In this way, it is alleged, he obtained from a number of colored men sums of money ranging from $5 to $10. In his effort to prove to his alleged victims that he was the chief porter he went to the company's office with some letters, talked with some one there, and then told his victim that he had consulted one of the chief officers of the company. The case will be heard in the Police Court tomorrow.

Scottish Rite Masons.

The Scottish Rite Masons of this city last evening celebrated the Rose Croix ceremony of extinguishing the lights in accordance with ancient usage, after which the mystic banquet was indulged in. The lights are to burn again on Sunday at 1 p.m., and in the evening the "Dark service" will be rendered for the first time in this city.

Ladies' Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Northeast Washington, which accomplished great good in relieving the poor in that section during the winter, has established an industrial school for women and girls at 311 11th street northwest.

AMUSEMENTS.

Grand Opera House.—Mr. Richard Mansfield

was seen last night at the Grand Opera House in "Prince Karl," the play in which he made his first bow to a Washington audience in 1888. His enactment of the double role of the prince and the foster brother of the prince, was a delicate and finished piece of comedy work, in strong contrast with his impersonation of the decrepit old Baron Chevalier of the night before. He kept his audience in good humor throughout the entire evening and displayed in an eminent degree his great versatility as an actor. He was ably supported by Miss Beattie Cameron as the young widow, and the other members of his company. The play was well mounted and the performance was a success. To-night Mr. Mansfield will be seen in "Beau Brummell."

For the Garfield Hospital.—The entertainment for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society to the Garfield Memorial Hospital at the Church of Our Father, tomorrow evening, promises to be of more than usual interest to the average audience. It is to be musical and literary in its character, with Bermuda and the West Indies as its principal literary theme, and vocal solos by Mr. H. L. Murdoch, Mr. B. H. Warner is to make the introduction to the trip to the West Indies, and give his impressions of Bermuda, the Windward Islands and Jamaica, while Mr. H. K. Willard will give glimpses of the same islands, giving stereoptical views of the same. Mrs. Jennie Cooper-Wilson will give "Judith."

Bischoff Concert Postponed.—The Bischoff concert which was to have taken place to-night, Good Friday, has been postponed until Tuesday, April 23. The program will be the same, and those who have bought tickets will simply transfer them to that night.

The Pythian Fair.—The largest crowd which has attended the joint fair of the Knights of Pythias, at Odd Fellows' Hall, 7th street northwest, since it was opened, was there last night. So great was the throng that it was necessary to have the floor was simply a struggling mass of humanity. Fancy dancing by Misses Beattie Cameron and Dimple Shaffelford, the attraction of the evening. The Washington Light Infantry, the Veteran Firemen, Independent Order of Red Men and the colored grand of the Pythian Temple, Men, were present, all in full uniform. The fair seems to have more than realized the most sanguine expectations thus far in the matter of raising the money to pay the debt incurred last August in entertaining the visiting knights. The fair will close tomorrow night.

Parlor Talk at Y. M. C. A.—Good Friday night at the Young Men's Christian Association, 1400 New York avenue northwest, has something of a rare treat in store for the public. Rev. Jos. J. McElroy, of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, will give a parlor talk on "The Pivotal Point in History," which promises to be worth hearing. Mr. Lewis Holmquist, of the Washington Post, will read a paper on "The Pivotal Point in History," which promises to be worth hearing. Mr. Lewis Holmquist, of the Washington Post, will read a paper on "The Pivotal Point in History," which promises to be worth hearing.

Funeral of Capt. Jackson.

The funeral of the late Capt. Addison A. Jackson of the treasury watch took place yesterday, Rev. Dr. Oliver Brown of Fourth Church conducting the religious services. Capt. Jackson's only surviving daughter, his brother from Illinois and a number of friends were present. The body was laid to rest at Arlington cemetery by the Rev. G. A. R. veterans, under the leadership of Junior Vice Commander Chambers and Chaplain J. D. Smith. The pallbearers were chosen from the Treasury Guard.

To Prevent Transfer.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday afternoon by Susan M. Sperry against Michael J. Coohalan and James Billings, doing business as the Washington Coupe and Livery Company, and eleven other defendants, to prevent the transfer of partnership property and to enforce a trust of the complainant for $1,000. Judge Sperry granted a temporary restraining order, returnable on the 16th instant.

To Celebrate an Anniversary.

The Washington New Church Society, of which the Rev. Frank Sewall is pastor, held its annual meeting Wednesday evening and elected the following named officers: President, Dr. R. B. Donaldson; secretary, C. F. Keefer; treasurer, Job Barnard; superintendent of the Sunday school, the Rev. Frank Sewall; auditor, J. S. Barrington; collector, J. S. Barrington; clerk, Benkert; and Messrs. C. G. Smith, A. Klakring, A. French, J. S. Barrington, C. G. Smith, Jr., and Messrs. J. J. Edson, S. A. Sperry and J. H. Twitcheell, alternate members of the church committee.

This society was instituted April 12, 1846, and it held its first religious service in the hall of the House of Representatives in the Capitol. It will celebrate the golden anniversary in 1896. A committee was appointed to make arrangements to make this celebration a national event.

Washington Hebrew Congregation.

The Washington Hebrew Congregation Chai Odum has elected the following officers for the coming six months: Notes, president; Eli Cohen, vice president; I. Horstein, secretary; H. Peizman, treasurer; A. Glazman, L. Sterman and M. Peizman, trustees.

AFFAIRS IN GEORGETOWN.

Falls Church Road and Other Interesting Items.

The Falls Church road construction has received a set back in a recent decision of the town council. In the consideration of the project and the application of the road's promoters for permission to use the pike to enter town upon it, it was reported by the council that the right would only be given in consideration of the paving of the highway for a distance of one mile back, and a guarantee that it would be kept in first-class condition. As there is barely enough money in sight to complete the construction proper, this improvement, it is said, is beyond the means and power of the road incorporators.

Some boys yesterday discovered the dead body of a female infant lying in the branch of the northern part of the old college tract. It was in a good state of preservation, evidencing that it had been there but short time. The police were notified and the body was brought to the station in the patrol and placed in the morgue.

The contractors are still showing great interest in the gravel and clay about the offer dam to prevent the inflow of the water during the repairs at the foundation of the pier. This brings under the consideration of the town passed during the original construction of the bridge, which forbade, after its passage, any further dumping of sand and gravel or clay in the Potomac at that point. So much had already been poured into the river that the bridge was in danger of being completely filling up of the channel in that vicinity if it was longer continued.

The citizens of today will see that dredges are put to work on the completion of the present repairs to remove that which has already been dumped, that the depth may be impeded. In the meantime the repairs are going along steadily.

HOTTELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

Handsome Banquet of the Members Last Night.

A score or more of the members of the Hotel Protective Association of the District sat down to a handsome banquet last evening at Schneider's Navy Yard Exchange. The menu was an elaborate one, and wit, good humor and timely speeches were on tap until a late hour. Among those present were: President Samuel C. Palmer, Thos. Wilkinson, Chas. Jacobsen, Charles B. Shafer, secretary, Henry Dauterich, treasurer; William A. Buckel, sergeant-at-arms; Frank M. Finley, J. H. Schluter, E. R. Levy, John N. Beck, M. Ullman, John Elder, Charles Fleishman, Herman Thurm, William Wells, Frank J. Nolte, Phil Hellriegel, August G. Hermann and Charles Bink.
